Nazi Convoys Hit

Ponape Pounded

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. army bombers, battering Ponape Island with 87 tons of bombs, "thoroughly covered" the town and dock areas of that Japanese-held base in the Eastern Caroline Islands, Thursday night. ### Planes Kill Traffic

MEDITERRANEAN ALLIED AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN ITALY (AP)—Relentless air bombardment has prevented the Germans from moving a single train since March 24 from the Pisa-Rimini line, 140 miles north of Rome, to the fighting front area, Maj. Gen. John K. Cameron, U.S. 12th Air Force Commander, said today.

Plane Found; 1 Missing

CALGARY (CP)—Forced down about 35 miles southwest of Claresholm, a training plane from No. 2 Flying Squadron, Shepherd, was located, undamaged today after being reported overdue Friday. Weather conditions, however, prevented aerial search for another missing plane from No. 36 S.F.T.S., R.A.F., Enfield, Alta.

Power Rationing Looms In Vancouver; Not Here

A serious lack of electric power in Vancouver which may cause rationing, has no bearing on Victoria, E. N. Horsey of the B.C. Electric Co. Ltd. said today. Describing the Vancouver situation as critical, Mr. Horsey said the power lack, caused by low precipitation so far this year, would be taken care of in Victoria by the new Brentwood steam plant which will be operating before the shortage becomes acute. Vancouver users will be asked to reduce their consumption and if this does not relieve the situation, rationing will go into effect.

2 Washing Machines for Ship From Women's Canadian Club

Members of the Women's Canadian Club decided at their meeting Friday to give to H.M.C.S. Beacon Hill, Victoria's warship, the two washing machines needed by the ship's crew. "I feel sure we will have no trouble raising the money for these two washing machines," said Mrs. Kenneth Drury of the Women's Canadian Club executive. "As we sit at home in safety we want our navy boys to know we are doing all in our power to supply them with comforts." Donation of these two washing machines by members of the Women's Canadian Club through voluntary subscriptions is in line with the club's previous war work, whereby members donated $1,500 for a mobile canteen for the troops in England and also made contributions to the blank ket fund. Books and playing cards led Victorian's gifts to H.M.C.S. Beacon Hill today.

Penicillin Patient Recovering Rapidly

Mrs. R. F. Cooper, who lay dangerously ill in St. Joseph's Hospital with a streptococcal infection and pneumonia on Wednesday, as Dr. J. H. Moore awaited a shipment of penicillin which was being flown in, is now progressing well and is expected to recover, said Dr. Moore today. He said he believed the patient would not have recovered had the drug not been used. Her temperature, which was extremely high as late as yesterday, has now come down to normal under the treatment, he said. Dr. Moore took charge of the case in the absence of Dr. J. M. Fowler, receiving the penicillin and attending to the treatment of Mrs. Cooper.

Big Bush Fires Near Edmonton Cause 2 Deaths

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta's bush fires today had caused the deaths of two youths, sent one man to a hospital with burns and forced two United States airmen to bail out of their plane when they became lost in the heavy smoke-covered skies.

The dead: Raphael Kline, 17, and Wilfred Dercher, 18, both of the Webster District. One man, whose name was not immediately available, of the Grande Prairie district, is in hospital with burns and many other fire-fighters have received first aid treatment for minor burns.

The youths died Thursday afternoon when they were trapped while fighting a bush fire seven miles east of Webster. Their bodies were recovered from the charred bushland by R.C.M.P. The fire which took their lives destroyed the Sanborn lumber mill in the Webster district about 100 miles west of Lesser Slave Lake, and was reported the worst blaze in this district in many years.

The U.S. airmen, 2nd Lt. Richard W. Anderson, Wilmette, Ill., and Cpl. Francis J. Conway, Scranton, Pa., bailed out from 11,000 feet over Leduc, 16 miles south of Edmonton, when they became lost in the heavy smoke and ran low in fuel. They received minor bruises and U.S. army officials said the plane was "demolished."

T. F. Bieffen, director of forestry for Alberta, said there now are about 10 fires raging in the northern section of Alberta.

RESERVE THREATENED

CALGARY (CP)—Still burning beyond control, the forest fire in the Big Prairie district northwest of Calgary today was veering to the west and threatening the valuable timber stands in the Bow River Forest Reserve. The heavy rain which fell in Calgary during the night did not extend to fire areas either at Big Prairie or Jumping Pound, where the fire is now under control.

Fred G. Edgar, provincial government forestry superintendent here, said today the Big Prairie fire covered an area of about 2,560 acres.

North Saanich Tops Victory Loan Quota

North Saanich, a sub unit of Lower Vancouver Island Rural and Gulf Islands, with a quota of $116,000, is well over its quota, present returns show the district has raised $117,500, and is still going strong.

Asks $3,450,570,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to appropriate $3,450,570,000 to carry forward the lend-lease program for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1945. He also requested that any unexpended balances of previous lend-lease appropriations be made available, which would make the aggregate for the new year $7,188,893,000.

Wilby Ordered Held in City Jail Under U.S. Police

Ralph M. Wilby, alias Douglas A. Hume, wanted in New York on 17 grand larceny charges, was ordered today by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane detained in the city jail in custody of two U.S. police officials, until next Thursday when application for a second writ of habeas corpus will be made by W. H. M. Haldane and Gordon Wismer, K.C., counsel for Wilby.

In an hour's hearing in chambers, the matter of Wilby's leave-taking of the courthouse on Thursday in charge of Sgt. Fred Hains and Detective George Salayka, both Americans, was little mentioned. Claude Harrison, representing the district attorney of New York, said Wilby's departure from the courthouse was perfectly legal, that Hains and Salayka had an order from the Minister of Justice permitting them to do this. He said Hains and Salayka had no legal right to surrender the order on later orders from an officer of the justice department in Ottawa to the B.C. deputy attorney-general.

TAKEN QUICKLY

Mr. Justice Macfarlane said Mr. Harrison and his clients knew a second application for writ of habeas corpus was before the courts and yet Wilby was taken "with great expedition." He said it is a case of whether the proceedings were carried out regularly or with undue haste, "without any opportunity to continue the application, which you knew was under way."

Question of where Wilby was to be detained occupied attention of judge and lawyers for some minutes. Mr. Harrison said there is no place where Wilby may be detained. Mr. Haldane said the New York policemen, in this regard, were the authors of their own difficulties if they are having any difficulty looking after Wilby.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane said Wilby should have been remanded in custody on Thursday, pending application for the second writ.

"The administration of justice must be carried on in an orderly way—a man can't be carted about the town," Mr. Justice Macfarlane said, adding there was no reasonable opportunity for anyone to do anything after the decision of the Chief Justice dismissing appeal by habeas corpus.

SAYS FALSE IMPRESSION

Mr. Harrison said a false impression is being created, that he and his clients had acted irregularly. Mr. Haldane, when Mr. Harrison insisted everything was done legally and regularly, said Wilby was not taken over the nearest route to the United States, which would have been via the Seattle boat, but first to Saanich, then to Duncan and, finally, to Nanaimo, "for what purpose I do not know."

No explanation was offered as to why the New York policemen had taken Wilby up-island.

Mr. Harrison said the New York policemen are holding Wilby under a proper legal document issued in Canada, and there is now no proper place to hold him.

Mr. Haldane said there would have been none of these difficulties if there hadn't been an effort to remove Wilby from the jurisdiction of the court.

NO LEGAL AUTHORITY

Mr. Harrison said there is no legal authority to take from Hains and Salayka the document ordering Wilby's release.

Wilby appeared in court carrying two paper bags containing his personal belongings. He had spent the night in the Empress Hotel, having arrived from Nanaimo, where he was picked up by provincial police Friday at midnight. In his hotel room legal argument between Mr. Harrison and Mr. Haldane was continued. There was talk of getting Justice Macfarlane out of bed to hear the case immediately, but it was decided it was too late.

Russ Massing For New Drives Germans Report

LONDON (CP)—German reports relayed through Stockholm said today the Russians had massed men and equipment "on an enormous" scale in old Poland for a new drive on the path to Berlin.

The reports said the Red Army was concentrated in great strength in the vicinity of Kovel, 170 miles southeast of Warsaw, and also was gathering near Kolomyja, 30 miles southeast of Stanislawow, near the old Czech border.

WILL SPEARHEAD DRIVE—Marshal Jacob Fedorenko, chief of the Russian army's great legions of armor.

A Russian Tass Agency military commentator said, meanwhile, that the sectional struggles which have been going on near Stanislawow since mid-April were significant because of strategic railways in that part of former Poland. A Soviet communiqué said 300 Germans were slain in a two-hour battle in that area Friday.

The bulletin also said that Russian air and sea units had sunk five more German and Romanian escape ships off Sevastopol in support of the Red Army's siege of the big Crimean port.

Calais Area Hit By Heavy Bombers In Day-Night Blow

LONDON (AP)—U.S. heavy bombers dumped bomb loads into German installations in the Pas-de-Calais area of France today as the Allies' pre-invasion air offensive continued for the 22nd day, despite miserable flying weather over the English Channel.

It was the 12th consecutive day of heavy bomber operations from British bases, but once more it was only a small force, probably less than 250 bombers, with an equal number of escorting Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustangs which hopped the Channel to hand Hitler's "Atlantic Wall" emplacements their sixth blow by heavy bombers in seven days.

The daylight blow followed a night in which R.A.F. and Canadian planes laid mines in enemy waters without loss and Canadian-manned Mosquito bombers on an offensive patrol over northern France attacked and severely damaged several parked enemy aircraft.

British-based U.S. bombers did all their bombing in the Pas-de-Calais through an overcast so thick the German ground gunners did not even bother to shoot at some of the attackers. No enemy fighters were encountered. Returning airmen said they bombed pin-point targets along the French coast, going over in relays with each group bashing a separate objective.

Labor Parley Off

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor today announced it has received word from London of the indefinite postponement of the world labor conference scheduled to open in London June 5 under the sponsorship of the British Trades Union Congress.

Non-Stop Blitz Covers Balkans; Oil Field Hit

By EDWARD KENNEDY

NAPLES (AP)—U.S. heavy bombers perhaps 500 to 750 strong hurled explosives into five Romanian cities today, slamming rail targets and an aircraft factory in a non-stop assault on the Balkans.

The big bombers and their fighter escorts struck through a screen of German interceptors, hammering rail yards and an aircraft plant at Brasov, 75 miles north of Bucharest; Campina, site of oil storage and railway yards 10 miles northwest of Ploesti, oft-assaulted Turnu-Severin, rail bottleneck on the Romanian side of the Iron Gate; and Pitesti and Craiova, 60 miles northwest of Bucharest and 85 miles east of the capital, respectively, for the first blows on those cities of the war.

The heavy daylight blows quickly followed up heavy overnight R.A.F. assaults on Romania and Friday's daylight attacks on Balkan targets and the spectacular breaching of the Pescara Dam in Italy.

In the overnight blow, R.A.F. Halifaxes and Wellingtons bombed the railway yards and oil storage tanks at Campina, in Romania 10 miles northwest of Ploesti. It was the first R.A.F. raid on that oil field.

Dam Waters Sweep Towards Pescara

Dive-bombing Kittyhawks and Mustangs, flown by British, Australian and South African pilots, executed the attack on the Pescara Dam, spilling flood waters over German communications and defenses 10 miles beyond the Adriatic end of the long-dormant 8th Army front.

In all operations in the Mediterranean Theatre Friday, embracing 1,960 sorties, 16 heavy bombers and eight other Allied planes were lost, headquarters said. Eleven German planes were destroyed.

The dam, 19 miles up the Pescara River from the port of the same name, had penned up a huge lake. At last reports a great wall of flood waters was moving down stream toward Pescara. The Germans had depended on the dam for electric power.

The announcement was the first disclosure here that the U.S. built P-51 Mustang now are being used by Allied fliers.

Heavy forces of American four-engine bombers struck into Romania Friday and hit the oil and rail centre of Ploesti and the railway city of Turnu-Severin. Over Ploesti the bombers and their escorting fighters engaged in a 30-minute running battle with about 100 German fighters.

Jap Sub Bagged By Canadian Fliers Off Alaska Coast

OTTAWA (CP)—Two members of the R.C.A.F. have been mentioned in dispatches for action which led to the "probable destruction" of a Japanese submarine off the coast of Alaska in the summer of 1942, the R.C.A.F. announced today.

The men are FO. Leonard Hylary John Shebesky, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Shebesky of Arborg, Man., and FO. William Evans Thomas, whose wife lives in Toronto.

The headquarters announcement was the first official public statement about the attack on the U-boat.

The submarine was sighted by Shebesky, the navigator, when the aircraft was off the coast of Prince of Wales Island.

Thomas swung the aircraft in a diving turn to attack and a 250-pound bomb was released and scored a direct hit.

They did not claim a submarine hit and thought perhaps they had only destroyed a whale, but a submarine warning went out and next morning two ships of the U.S. coast guard engaged in a co-ordinated attack which they believed resulted in a definite sub sinking.

BRITISH HERO RECEIVES U.S. DECORATION—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied invasion commander-in-chief, is shown as he is pinned the Distinguished Service Cross, second highest U.S. award, on the uniform of C.S.M. Reginald Allen of the British army. Allen won the award for directing his men in the capture of a machine gun installation on the front in Italy.

Delay In Revealing Postwar Policy On Japs Protested By B.C. Members

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
OTTAWA (CP)—Suggestions that Canada expatriate after the war the 23,636 Japanese now in the Dominion were heard in the Commons Friday before Defence Minister Ralston, expressed belief that the government will forecast this session what course it plans to follow in dealing with the Japanese.

"I believe I can promise the House that a full statement will be made at this session with regard to this matter of policy, in so far as I can be forecast at this stage," said Col. Ralston, Acting Prime Minister in the absence of Prime Minister King in the United Kingdom.

He spoke after British Columbia members had urged Labor Minister Mitchell reveal immediately what policy Canada will follow after the war in dealing with the Japanese, 15,982 of whom settled in British Columbia.

"I say that you cannot have responsible ministers simply rising in their places and, right off the bat, declaring what are going to be postwar policies with respect to the Japanese, in view of the situation in which we find ourselves," said Col. Ralston.

No other domestic question could be of greater importance, as affecting Canada's external affairs, than the question of the Japanese.

Premier May Reveal Government Plans

He indicated the government's statement might be made by Prime Minister King, who is Secretary of State for External Affairs, when the estimates of the External Affairs Department come before the House later this session.

He said the problem should not have crept into debate on an item in the war estimates of the labor department, which provided $2,750,000 for the removal of enemy aliens from protected areas.

Col. Ralston stepped into the debate after A. W. Neill, Ind. Comox-Alberni, had joined British Columbia members who urged that Mr. Mitchell make a statement on the policy the government would follow.

Mr. Neill said that the people in his riding—and he believed the same applied to other constituencies in western Canada—wanted the Japanese removed from Canada after the war. "They want that and they want nothing less," he said.

Mr. Neill said the Japanese should be expatriated after the war in their own interest, because there might be "bloodshed" when the "White Man" came back from the war.

Spreading the Japanese throughout Canada would simply lead to "spreading the evil."

He said he felt the Commons should be discussing what privileges would be extended to returned men instead of what privileges would be extended to the Japanese.

Earlier, Mr. Mitchell had said he did not know yet what would happen to the Japanese after the war.

"I suppose some international agreement will be drawn up to deal with the Japanese," said Mr. Mitchell. "I don't think anyone knows at present what the policy is going to be."

Inflammatory Speeches Give False Picture

Mr. Mitchell said he understood the preplexity of the problem. Some people in British Columbia did not want the Japanese to return there after the war. Because of some speeches of some of the members and of other people, many people in eastern Canada pictured the Japanese "as a man running around with a knife in his mouth."

"Nonsense," said Mr. James Sinclair, L., Vancouver North. "You can call it nonsense if you like, but it is true," said Mr. Mitchell.

"Why send them back to British Columbia then?" asked George Cruickshank, L., Fraser Valley.

The minister said "nobody has said that we are going to send them back to British Columbia."

Mr. Cruickshank said the agreements signed by the federal government contained a clause which said that Japanese moved into a province from a protected area would be removed on request after the war.

The agreements said the Japanese would be returned to British Columbia, said Mr. Cruickshank. "They say no such thing," said Mr. Mitchell.

"They certainly do," replied Mr. Cruickshank. "Table the agreements. You are afraid to."

Mr. Mitchell didn't reply. The argument began when Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver South, asked if the government planned to remove all the Japanese from British Columbia, and if it planned to keep them out of the province for good. Mr. Green also asked whether any plans were being drawn up to return the Japanese to Japan, and what the government planned to do if a province asked for the removal of Japanese moved out of protected areas.

Mr. Green said the peace treaty should contain a clause calling for the removal of the Japanese to Japan after the war. Between 1,000 and 2,000 Japanese in Canada wanted to return to Japan, and not all of them were Japanese nationals. The 61 families repatriated to Japan last year were for the most part naturalized Canadians.

Naturalized Japs Not Necessarily Loyal

Naturalization could not be taken as an indication of the loyalty of Japanese, he said. The government should attempt to find out what Japanese were loyal. Such an attempt had been made in the United States and thousands of Japanese had refused to swear allegiance to Japan or to swear unqualified allegiance to the United States.

"If the Japanese government would leave these people alone, things would be different," said Mr. Green.

The Japanese government held interest in Japanese who moved to foreign countries, he said. The Tokyo radio referred to such Japanese as being in "the front line of overseas expansion."

Even more bitterness against eastern Canada would be caused if British Columbia in the future over the Japanese problem unless the federal government assumed its proper responsibility.

Of the 23,636 Japanese in Canada, 15,982 still were in British Columbia, or two-thirds of the total.

Individual Japanese had been coerced or persuaded into going to eastern Canada, and they represented some of the youngest and best of the Japanese race. The government attempt at dispersal of the Japanese in the last year had been "half-hearted."

In reply to questions from Hon. Grose Stirling, P.C., Yale, B.C., Mr. Mitchell said that as far as possible it was proposed to use Japanese in essential employment.

Following the dinner adjournment, Thomas Reid, L., New Westminster, said the Japanese had come to Canada under a definite plan of the Japanese government, which as early as 1890 had started preparations to gain control of countries touching the Pacific.

Mr. Reid said it was regrettable the Japanese problem had become a political issue, but this could be blamed on the C.C.F. Party. The C.C.F. had said in 1942 that if elected it would grant the Japanese the vote.

If the Japanese had been granted the vote they would have voted "en bloc for the C.C.F.," said Mr. Reid.

British Columbia members had urged the federal government to do something about the Japanese problem, but no action was taken until the outbreak of war. The members feared the government might not take any action after the war to solve the problem, and "this we plan to fight every inch of the way."

Mr. Reid said that at one time his name was plastered throughout Japan as "Public Enemy No. 1." This had been after he opposed granting the Japanese the vote.

Mr. Reid said that "close to the government" was a group of high officials who had idealistic opinions without practical knowledge. He said he was concerned about their influence in respect to the Japanese question.

He said he did not think "big-ger liars" existed than the Japanese, who spread propaganda throughout the world.

White Canadians Buy Land for Japs

Reports were prevalent that Japanese were buying land in British Columbia through white Canadians after certain assets had been released to them.

Mr. Mitchell said the government took action on the movement of Japanese as was thought advisable.

"I have strong views on this matter myself—as strong as those of members who have spoken," said Mr. Mitchell.

"Do you agree with them?" asked Mr. Cruickshank. "My friend is sitting over there and I am sitting over here," replied Mr. Mitchell.

When the opportunity time arrived, members would find the government policy in conformity with the broad interests and ideas of the Canadian people.

W. K. Esling, P.C., Kootenay West, said he wondered if Mr. Mitchell would assure the British Columbia people that the Japanese would not be allowed to purchase land or enter business. It was not fair to allow Japanese to open businesses in competition with long-established firms seeking to eke out a living.

Mr. Mitchell said he did not think any permission was being given Japanese to purchase land. Whether they would be allowed to go into business was a matter for the Justice Department.

Mr. Esling said the Kootenay West district had to "endure" Doukhobor as well as Japanese, and it deserved some consideration.

Fit. Lt. James Sinclair said there had been no mention of Hongkong and what the Japanese had done to Canadian and American prisoners.

The British Columbia people were determined the Japanese must go. After the war defence would still be a problem, as the Japanese would "breed" again and would seek living space. There had to be a defence bulwark in British Columbia.

Southern Alberta Gets Needed Rain; Crop Outlook Poor

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fresh rains were reported in moisture-starved areas of southern Alberta Friday night, but elsewhere in the prairie provinces cool clear weather prevailed.

Temperatures ranged from 38 to 40 degrees in Alberta. Continued dry weather in the west has caused some grain authorities to state the odds are against a normal crop being produced this year.

The Searle Grain Company Ltd. research department calculates moisture up to May 1 was 81 per cent of normal in the three prairie provinces compared with 102 per cent of normal a year ago.

The department recalls there have been years when better than normal rains during the summer actually did make up for a serious moisture deficiency at the start of the season, but the "odds are against this happening."

RAILWAY REPORTS

The Canadian National Railways' crop report this week showed deficiency in sub-soil moisture was serious, particularly in southwestern Saskatchewan and southeastern Alberta. Moisture in Alberta generally was far below average, in Saskatchewan far from satisfactory, and in Manitoba satisfactory, the report said.

The Canadian Pacific Railway report this week found prevailing cool weather, especially in Manitoba, heartening, adding, ample rains will be needed during the growing season.

Maximum temperature during the last 24 hours was around 62 above. The forecast was for fair and moderately warm weather.

Boilermakers Seek Seniority Clause

VANCOUVER (CP)—Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union Local No. 2, Victoria, has requested an answer by Monday from Yarrow's Ltd. to a proposal that a seniority clause be added to the union agreement now in force in the two company yards.

The clause would cover cases of layoffs, promotions, demotions and other changes in personnel. Numbers of men when confronted Friday by payroll deductions for two hours lost during a stoppage April 24, claimed by the union to have been caused by the company management, were reported to have refused to accept their pay cheques. No other action has yet been taken, union officials reported.

Yarrow's Ltd. officials declined comment on the matter today.

Onus for Full Employment Is Placed On Ottawa

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

TORONTO — Although the Canadian public has been shown to be extremely jealous of the rights of the provinces, and does not want to "give Ottawa any more power," nevertheless, only 21 per cent of those Canadians interviewed in a national poll believed that prevention of unemployment was purely a provincial concern.

The question of whether the prevention of unemployment is a federal or a provincial responsibility is likely to be an important item of discussion at the next Dominion-Provincial conference. In order to sound out, in very general terms, public attitudes to this complex problem, a representative cross-section of the public was asked, first:

"Do you think the problem of making plans to provide jobs for everyone after the war should be up to the federal government in Ottawa, or up to the government in each of the provinces?"

To the largest group of Canadians, this is a federal responsibility, but almost as many feel that it is both a federal and provincial matter: Federal 38 per cent, provincial 21 per cent, both 36 per cent, neither 1 per cent, undecided 4 per cent.

While little difference is found between the way Progressive Conservatives and Liberals think on this issue, supporters of the C.C.F. Party show a much higher percentage (50 per cent of those interviewed) who believe the job is one for Ottawa.

Margin of 6th Loan Over 5th Reduced; Farmers Do Well

OTTAWA (CP)—The margin by which subscriptions to Canada's Sixth Victory Loan, with a $1,200,000,000 objective, is leading the Fifth Loan totals for comparable days was cut by $4,000,000 Friday, National Loan headquarters announced today.

Friday's sales of $76,458,950 brought the total to date to $791,443,700. Salesmen had started Friday—the 11th day of the drive—some $12,000,000 ahead of the comparable figures for the previous campaign, but when the totals were added Friday night they only had a margin of $8,000,000.

An encouraging factor in Friday's figures was the support from farmers. They helped bring the day's total of individual sales $31,577,300, making the aggregate in this category $324,213,051.

The large buyers' sales Friday amounted to $44,881,657. The number of purchasers was brought to a total of 1,905,678 as compared with 1,299,000 in the Fifth Victory Loan.

Two provinces announced purchases Friday. From Quebec came $4,500,000 while Nova Scotia bought $2,000,000 in bonds out of provincial funds.

SERVICES KEEP ON

Now $261,407, beyond the $36,950,000 they combined to raise during the Fifth Victory Loan, the three armed services are showing no sign of slowing up. The navy has better than $4,000,000, the army $19,755,200 and the air force $13,936,200.

After a friendly pow-wow with tribal members of the Stony Indian Reserve near Calgary, Mrs. Jean Johnson, a Victory Loan canvasser in the Cochrane unit, emerged a record-holder—the first person to sell a Victory Bond to these Indians.

The Vancouver suburban area is the first B.C. Yukon civilian division to go over the top, reaching its quota Friday, thus repeating a feat performed in the Third and Fifth Victory Loans. Vancouver itself with 77 per cent of its public quota of $20,000,000 attained is now working toward being the first large city in the country to reach its objective.

At Penticton, B.C., the Penticton Co-operative Growers have invested $15,000 in Victory Bonds.

In the general canvass and payroll savings contest for a silver rose bowl, Lewis-Lauzon, Que., reports 114 per cent achieved. Others leaders include Prince Albert, Sask.; Moose Jaw, Sask., 66, and Regina, 64.

Leaders in the total objective class include Vancouver 77.7 and Victoria 56.2.

LONDON (AP)—Lord Hartington, 26, and Kathleen Kennedy, 24, daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former U.S. ambassador to Britain, were married today at the Chelsea registry office. Lord Hartington, heir of the Duke of Devonshire, recently was defeated as a government candidate for the Commons.

Cadet Inspection

Three hundred parents and students saw the inspection of Oak Bay High School Cadet Corps Thursday. The reviewing stand and school were decorated in red, white and blue streamers for the occasion.

The inspection began with battalion drill, the cadets marching past the reviewing stand under the command of Cadet Lt-Col. Howey. The salute was taken by Brigadier Sutherland Brown, the inspecting officer, and Lieut. King, Area Cadet Officer. Following company and platoon drill demonstrations of physical training, signalling and simplified first-aid and commando tactics were given.

Australia Reduces Its Defence Corps

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Acting Prime Minister Francis Forde announced approval of a recommendation by Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, Australian commander-in-chief, that a considerable portion of the Australian Volunteer Defence Corps be placed on a reserve basis by July 31, in view of the improved strategic situation.

However, units of the V.D.C. doing anti-aircraft or coast artillery searchlight duties or protecting fortress areas, would continue as at present, Forde said.

The Volunteer Corps is comprised mainly of first Great War veterans and men with deferred occupations.

The Tea Party

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

AS THEY SAT down to the tea party in Wonderland, Alice asked the Hatter why he was called mad. "I'm a Tory, you see," the Hatter replied, "and all Tories are mad. Gad, you would be, too, if you'd been out of a job since 1935 and no prospect of getting another. That," he added, pointing to the Dormouse, who lay asleep on the table, "is my new leader. He's resting. He doesn't want to strain his energies by going into Parliament. He's preparing himself to represent the nation at the peace conference. After another year or so of unconsciousness he should be peaceful enough to settle Canada's future at the peace conference."

The Dormouse roused himself enough to murmur: "Don't ask me."

"Last Tuesday," said the Hatter, "I was very good at that myself," said the March Hare, who wore the initials C.C.P. embroidered on his red tie. "I'm better than the Dormouse even because my statements sound as if they actually did mean something."

Thursday. It was splendid. "But I thought," said Alice, "that the second statement was also like Mr. King's."

"Maybe," said the Hatter, "but the second statement was on Thursday. That's his good day. Besides, no one knew what the statement meant. Oh, he's very good on Thursdays."

"I'm very good at that myself," said the March Hare, who wore the initials C.C.P. embroidered on his red tie. "I'm better than the Dormouse even because my statements sound as if they actually did mean something."

"You're too tricky," said the Hatter. "We're honest and frank. We just say whatever comes into our heads at the time. In that way we're always consistent, for we're always ourselves. But the government says the same thing all the time, and as no one can be right all the time, the government must be wrong. That's logic."

"I stand for prosperity," murmured the Dormouse and snored softly.

"That's nothing," said the Hare. "I can turn the clock back centuries, right back to ancient Egypt when the state ran everything and still make the public think it's tomorrow."

"My policy is peace and plenty," murmured the Dormouse.

"Nevertheless," said the Hatter, "I'm worried and can't sleep at night. There's something wrong with the British Empire. How the Dormouse can sleep at such a time I don't know."

"What's wrong with the Empire?" asked Alice.

"Only a very rude little girl would ask that," said the Hatter. "Why, you sound as if you'd been brought up in a Liberal house. These are not the things one discusses publicly in genteel society. Besides, it's a secret."

"A military secret?" asked Alice.

"No, a political secret child," said the Hatter. "I haven't said what I think or I might not get re-elected." He sighed heavily and swallowed a bun.

"Very bad buns," said the Hare. "Made by a private monopoly, no doubt. When I'm in office I'll make all the buns myself."

"Have you had a wide experience in making buns?" said Alice.

"Never made one in my life," said the Hare. "Under a wretched capitalist system I never had the opportunity. But I'll learn."

"What if the people don't like your buns?" said Alice.

"They'll have to," said the Hare. "It'll be in the regulations. Besides, there won't be any other buns when we've abolished monopolies and I'm making all the buns. The people would rather eat even mine, I dare say, than starve."

"I stand for a world of abundance," murmured the Dormouse. "More and more buns for everyone. That's my platform." He snored gently.

"ALL MOVE!" cried the Hatter, and everyone at the table moved to the next chair. "This way," the Hatter explained, "we each get a clean plate and we don't have to wash the dirty ones."

"But I've moved to a dirty plate," said Alice.

"Of course," said the Hare. "That's as should be. You're the taxpayer."

"Ah," said the Hatter, "it's nice to have a clean plate. I've had dirty ones so long. Pass the jam, child. I haven't seen any for years. You see, by continually moving on to a clean plate, I can forget all the past and so does the public, I hope."

"Yes, but eventually," Alice said, "you'll move around the table to the old dishes again."

"That's the old weakness in my plan," said the Hatter. "Never mind, perhaps the election may come before I have to go back to my old dishes and the voters won't notice them."

"I have hundreds of old ones but I hide them under the table," said the Hare.

"Don't wake the Dormouse, my child," said the Hatter. "He's training for the peace conference and mustn't be interrupted. You must have peace if you're going to represent your nation at the peace conference. No arguments, no debates, no disturbance. But look at Mr. King. He's disturbed; he's forced to argue in Parliament, and even has to explain his policies. Obviously, this has made him unfit to go to a peace conference. He's not peaceful enough. Besides, he wants to co-operate with the whole world and therefore he's an isolationist. I read that in the Montreal Gazette. A very intelligent paper. Supported me for years."

"You must come to tea, Alice, when I'm in power," said the Hare. "The buns will have raisins in them and chocolate frosting. You'll pay for them, of course. Under socialism the guest always pays. In fact, you'd better bring the raisins and the chocolate and you might bring the buns, too, and, of course, the tea. That's the co-operative principle."

"These buns are stale," said the Hatter. "Liberal buns. King just refuses to do anything. Won't move. Won't act."

"We need bold and courageous action," said the Dormouse. "Wake me, boys, after the election so I can go to the peace conference. Ah, how I long for peace."

NAVY DAY

IT'S NAVY DAY IN VICTORIA AND A day for the city to hold its head high in pride.

For here are built ships that defend our country and our Allies from the menace of the lurking enemy. Here are bred men who sail those ships and fight that enemy, even unto death. Here wait the women who love the men of the sea, and keep the long vigil of war until they return to harbor and home. Here in Victoria beats many a sad heart grieving for the loss of the men who last week died in action at sea, still fighting valiantly in the cause of freedom. All Victoria mourns with those who lost loved ones on H.M.C.S. Athabaskan and prays that the missing may be found.

It is almost sacrilege to mention dollars and cents in the presence of real sacrifice. Yet it is a fact that it takes money to build and maintain a Navy. The Athabaskan cost around $3,000,000, or more than half the amount Greater Victoria is asked to raise in the Sixth Victory Loan. Naval personnel stationed locally have set civilians an example by over-subscribing their loan quotas. Men from one ship made 250 per cent of their objective. A group of naval sailors, recently returned from combined operations in Sicily and Italy, and who saw action at Dieppe and off North Africa, bought $2,900 worth of bonds. A group of 16 stokers bought $1,400 worth of bonds, and these are all lads without private means.

When we think of the Navy we think of the courage of its men and their willingness to sacrifice. Logically, we sooner or later must come to asking ourselves what we at home are doing to match their service and patriotism. One act of real service and practical patriotism is above all others open today to us who cannot fight. That act is to back the Navy, its men and our country by buying Victory Bonds—more Victory Bonds.

END OF BLOCKADE-RUNNING

DURING THE WINTER OF 1940-41 GERMAN ships were able to import cargoes, especially rubber from Saigon, from French overseas territories by way of Unoccupied France. The British Navy stopped that traffic. Mica and meat were imported from Madagascar. The British Navy stopped that. During 1941 and 1942 other routes through the blockade were stopped. German ships ceased to attempt to cross the South Atlantic from neutral South American ports. But the most serious blow to German supplies was the Allied occupation of French North Africa in the autumn of 1942. That stopped all imports into Europe by small vessels sailing from Mediterranean ports.

By the end of 1942 Germany was left with only one country outside Europe from which to obtain the rubber, tin and edible oils she needed. That country was Japan. But Japan needed other things: machine tools, ball-bearings, and especially models and plans of weapons that had been tested in the European theatre. So the blockade-running had to be arranged on a system of exchange with Japan.

That was begun in the winter of 1942-43. Of the ships that left the Far East for Europe, seven were sunk. Others were damaged so they could not make the voyage. During last winter five ships left the Far East for Europe; four of them were sunk. No ships left Europe for Japan. Several were ready and loaded; two were so badly damaged in port they could not have sailed; the rest have never sailed for some unannounced reason. The system of exchange has broken down. It may be that Germany did not wish to risk the ships; it may be that Germany could no longer spare ball-bearings and machine tools for Japan.

Today, out of 30 vessels that during the last two years were engaged in running the blockade between Japan and Europe, only 10 are left. Out of these 10 several are badly damaged, and nearly all of them are in European ports under the eyes of the R.A.F. Only one or two are left in Japan, and it may be doubted whether the Japanese will be willing to send any more cargoes to Europe before they have got something in exchange.

Germany's need to import cargoes from overseas was proof of her failure to make Europe self-sufficient. Her attempt to import cargoes in unescorted merchantmen, relying on speed and evasion, was a result of her lack of sea power. The fact that these supplies are coming to an end at the very time when Germany needs them most is a result of the steady growth of Allied sea power.

Cowichan Leader wants to know what investor in his senses would keep money in a savings bank when he can get twice the interest in a Victory Bond. It is hard to believe there are any such individuals left, but if there are, they are the fellows the Victory Loan salesmen are looking for an opportunity to meet.

"Invest in the Invasion" by subscribing to an extra bond this next week.

ANOTHER WAR

AS IF A WORLD WAR WERE NOT enough, the literary front has now flared into violent action. It was started by a book, "The Literary Fallacy," by Bernard De Voto, a Cambridge, Mass., literary critic and university lecturer.

De Voto attacks as a fallacy the belief "that a culture may be understood and judged solely by means of its literature, that literature embodies truly and completely both the values and the contents of a culture, that literature is a measure of life, and finally that life is subordinate to literature."

Developing his thesis, he trains his guns on the dominant writers of the 1920's—Sinclair Lewis, John Dos Passos, William Faulkner, Ernest Hemingway, T. S. Eliot, and H. L. Mencken—as responsible for the fallacy. As proof that it is a fallacy to judge the character of a people by its literary works, De Voto points out that many fine, estimable, worthy people existed at the time that the Lewis-Dos Passos-Hemingway-Faulkner regime made readers think that America was made of idiots, halfwits, frustrated wives, dishonest clergymen and lecherous expatriates in Paris.

Sinclair Lewis has replied with a blast in the Saturday Review that is almost unparalleled for personal abuse, violent language and bad manners. He calls De Voto "a fool and a tedious and egotistical fool, a liar, and a pompous and boring liar." Malcolm Cowley has come out in the New Republic with the conclusion that there must be something generically wrong with De Voto that led him to do this awful thing to his friends and suggesting more in sorrow than in anger that he reconsider his whole critical position.

A lot of critical data will probably be ventilated in the controversy and it will help in the evaluation of what the 1920's contributed to thought and experimental writing, to freedom of expression and the breakdown of restraint. As to the attack itself, Harry Hansen, the critic of Harper's, finds that De Voto's personal fallacy is in his assumption that writers lead their times, when actually they only lead other writers. They, of course, are often a symptom of their times. The 1920's, as Mr. Hansen reminds us, cannot be discussed in isolation; they must be considered as the culmination of the realistic, naturalistic, iconoclastic movement in literature. They led us into the newer, more conservative period, which, Mr. Hansen believes, will be more scientific than romantic.

THERE'S SOMETHING IN A NAME

LOOKED INTO THE NAMES of some of our fine British Columbia institutions, which are doing praiseworthy work and creating happiness for many people.

Going no further than Victoria, we have an Aged and Infirm Ladies' Home, an Aged Men's Home, a Protestant Orphanage. No one is ashamed to be old or orphaned or infirm. But no one likes to be stamped with such labels and to be constantly reminded of the fact. Why could not these institutions be called, well, after some particular benefactor, perhaps the founder. Perhaps Hillside House for the orphanage, McClure House for the aged women's home, Willows House for the home where the old men are rounding out their days. Victoria's newest institution is called Mount St. Mary—it is a more pleasant-sounding name than Old People's Home or the Chronic Hospital—and means much to the morale of the people living there.

At Essondale, too, it is high time somebody did something about the names of the various buildings. Who, with a mental illness, could possibly get well knowing she was living in a place called the Female Chronic? That name is enough to give anyone a relapse. We have made certain progress in this time. We no longer call an institution for the mentally unwell an asylum, but a mental hospital, and in this change is reflected our better understanding of the nature of mental illness. Labels are important in modern life and the morale of everyone is worth keeping at its highest.

THE VICTORY GARDEN FRONT

TO CULTIVATE A VICTORY GARDEN this year is to join substantially in the all-inclusive offensive which will win the war. The weeks, immediately ahead, now that May has come to warm the soil, will be critical in our food supply program.

These are the days to stir the soil, to rejoice in its productive power, to reinforce its fertility, to place in the ground the seeds which will bring forth fruit to feed a people who in turn must feed the forces which have gone forth to fight the battle of our survival.

Every tomato plant, every row of potatoes, peas or beans, will be part of the fortress guarding our home front and a part of the supply system supporting the fighting front.

NOTES

When the average citizen says something is ruining the nation, he means it is hurting him.

Anybody can live on the allowance given a soldier's family. Just ask anybody who makes $25,000 a year.

It is always the majority that is urged to be tolerant and broadminded. Minorities are made fiercely partisan by their weakness.

The Archbishop of York, visiting Toronto, reminds us that the Allies must be ready with their relief plans if millions are to be saved from starvation, destitution and pestilence.

ARE YOU A HICKENLOOPER?

NOTABLE AMONG the state documents of our time is a proclamation of Governor Bourke B. Hickenlooper, of Iowa, as follows:

"Whereas, each of us is touched in some measure by the horror and sadness of the war; and

"Whereas, when we are under great strain and emotional stress, we must seek some form of escape from our troubled thoughts and find a medium of spiritual refreshment and mental relaxation so that we may more efficiently carry on with the necessary duties of our daily living and also take an active part in vital war effort; and

"Whereas, the realm of fantasy provides such an escape from reality and is a wholesome, uplifting form of amusement;

"Now, therefore, I, Bourke B. Hickenlooper, as Governor, hereby proclaim the week of April 6 through April 12, 1944, inclusive, as

"Snow White Week.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Iowa to be affixed hereto."

The contents of this document are a little different from those of Magna Carta and the Declaration of Independence, but they are cast in the same heroic literary mold. The Hickenlooper proclamation is in the great tradition of freedom. But freedom from what? Freedom, of course, from reality. Whereas the Barons of Runnymede and the signers of the Declaration sought freedom to create a better reality in their lives, the Hickenloopers of modern times seek an escape from reality. They seek unreality, like a soothing drug.

THE HICKENLOOPERS are not all governors of Iowa. They are the mass millions of North America, seeking escape from reality. Indeed, so extensive are the efforts of escape, so vast the apparatus of flight, so gigantic the structure of make-believe and unreality by printed word, by movies, by radio, that presently more human energy will be devoted to creating illusions than to creating facts. We shall be living in one continuous Snow White Week, like the good citizens of Iowa.

Everything is advertised and sold now as a method of escape. We have escape movies, escape radio programs, and most of the magazines are nothing but escape, which often is worse than imprisonment. We are becoming the great jailbreakers of history. Our fathers and we have spent a lot of money and blood in creating a civilization; we claim that it is the pinnacle of human history; we try to confer it upon the heathen in all foreign and backward lands; but here at home we use a large part of our time trying to flee from it—a process which reaches a climax with the attempt to make the people of Iowa live for a week like the Seven Dwarfs.

But the Seven Dwarfs were not escapist. They worked, and whistled while they worked, and were the hardest-headed, most practical little men in history. If we were to imitate them we would not try to escape, but would turn back from the world of fantasy into the world of reality. And in so doing, we would find that the world of reality today is more fantastic than any fairyland. The world today is the greatest show on earth, such as the fairy-tale writers could never have imagined.

ANY MAN WHO can read simple English should never be bored. Any man who owns a radio has a free seat to the most gigantic spectacle of the ages. Men who refuse to be Hickenloopers or Dwarfs, who reject the drug of escapism, are usually happy because they not only feel the excitement of the universal drama but become a part of it in the great game of life.

They may hate the world as it is. They may devote their lives to protest against it. They may drive their friends mad with their theories of a better society. They make a nuisance of themselves at every street corner and in every beer parlor. But, caught up in the flowing tide of our era, grasping for a moment the monstrous shapes and lurid pictures of human revolution, they are happy because they are interested. They do not want to escape. They know that the land of Snow White was never like this. They refuse to be Hickenloopers. They prefer to be men.

They know, anyway, that there is no escape. There never is any escape, anytime, anywhere, this side of the grave. And the more men try to escape, the worse is the return to reality; just as increasing doses of alcohol breed progressively larger hangovers. The people who have tried hardest to escape, who have spent the most toil and money on it, are the unhappiest people of all, and all the marvelous carnival of entertainment spread before them becomes in time an empty bore, a clattering procession of skeletons.

What we need is to escape from escape; to fly from Hickenlooperdom back to the world of actual things, and in this flight it would divest itself of half the crackpot economic theories and most of the political delusions which have lately made reality so unreal. Like the trembling figure on the river bank, we all feel better when we plunge in and swim. In the last four years or so most people have had to plunge and swim somehow and are the better for it, but determined efforts will be made after the war to get them out of the stream, to make them into Dwarfs, to establish Hickenlooperism everywhere, to persuade everyone that the way to swim is to stay out of the water, the way to live is to run away from life.

The peace-makers in 1919 thought only of their own countries. If they do it again, prepare for another "last war."

News Analysis

The War Today

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Mahatma Gandhi's release from internment by the government of India, on the grounds of his serious illness, is bound to be widely interpreted as calculated to deprive him of the martyrdom which would come from dying while imprisoned.

Certainly, without attempting to read the government's mind, we can say Gandhi's liberation is an act of wisdom, for when his death does come India will be swept with emotion.

The Mahatma is by far the most influential individual among the 400,000,000 of that vast sub-continent. To understand this you must know that his chief hold on his people rests in his spiritual leadership, apart from his political dominance of the All-India Congress. Countless lowly millions regard him literally as divine, and try to worship him, despite his efforts to discourage this.

Gandhi's death would remove one of the great leaders of the masses through the ages. It would take away an influence which, despite its mistakes, has worked wonders for the social and moral uplift of his people. Still, it shouldn't cause demoralization among his followers, for others will carry on, though they cannot fill his place.

I should say that his successor in political leadership will be his great friend and disciple, Jawaharlal Nehru. That 55-year-old Brahmin (the highest Hindu caste) is one of the most brilliant of the Indian leaders and next to Gandhi is the most powerful political figure in the country. Nehru has deliberately kept his own striking personality in the background so as not to detract from the Mahatma, whom he reverences above all men. Nehru is popular and is highly respected by British authorities.

Another Nationalist leader of whom we should hear much is Rajagopalachari. He is one of the moderates and is one of the best-liked men in India, not only by his own people but by the British. He stands for compromise among the warring Indian factions and with the British government. His daughter, by the way, is the wife of Gandhi's son Devadas.

I am sure many British officials feel that the chances of a settlement of the Indian political situation will be better with the removal of Gandhi's powerful influence, which has held out against compromise that the government has felt essential to reason progress towards India's sovereignty.

FAITH AND WORKS.

Col. F. W. L. Moore must have misunderstood the meaning of a letter of mine in which I contended that God demands faith and not works as the only way to heaven.

Martin Luther, that great man of God, had his eyes opened when he came across the inspired Word: "The just shall live by faith" and not by works. As the Christian he professes to be, Col. Moore surely knows that faith must come before works in order to obtain eternal life. "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God; not of works, lest any man should boast." Eph. 2:8-9.

Col. Moore's illustration of the statue of gold on one side and silver on the other side is correct in so far as it represents man's way of looking at man-made truths—God's Word, however, has not two sides or points of view and must be looked upon from God's standpoint only.

Man's deeds (works) are only sanctified by, and acceptable to, God after that the right creed (faith) has been adhered to by man, which creed is condensed in the Lord Jesus Christ's own words spoken on the authority of His Heavenly Father: "I am

PARK LAND FOR THE NATION

From Manchester Guardian

The buying of Mam Tor and the Winnats by the National Trust is the latest step towards making the Peak District a national park. The new property covers an area of 473 acres and includes the land above the famous Blue John, Speedwell, and Treak Cliff mines, but not the mines themselves.

Mam Tor, which is 1,700 feet high, is crowned by an ancient British camp and commands magnificent views across the Kinder Scout as it rises above Castleton and Edale. It has long been known as the "Shivering Mountain" because of the shaly scree which are constantly weathered from its face. The Winnats is a limestone gorge ranking perhaps second in grandeur to the famous gorge of Cheddar.

How far can you walk into the forest?

HERE IS THE ANSWER—

"Half way in. Then you start on the way out."

WE are part way in this war—starting on the way out.

Nevertheless, the part we still have to travel is a tough part—perhaps more grim and forbidding—with desperate enemies resisting at every step.

It is going to take all the determination we've got, and every ounce of courage, to grope our way through the dark, unyielding forest to the sunshine of Victory on the other side.

Those of us who don't fit into the Fighting Side of this picture certainly fit into the Sustaining Side of it. And our immediate job is to swell this Victory Loan into a war chest of unprecedented size!

Our enemies (we still have plenty of them), will lie down to one argument only, and that's the kind of argument which this Loan will provide—guns, tanks, airplanes, landing ships, and the like.

The war has divided us into two classifications:

- (a) those who Stand Up and Fight
- (b) those who Dig Down and Buy.

Aside from their excellent investment value—apart from the fact that each new bond you buy adds to your security—lending more and more of your money by buying bonds, is your contribution to quick and total Victory.

Allied Co-operation Says Sub Commander

"Despite all talk to the contrary, there is complete co-operation between British and American armed forces," Lieut. Norman Jewell, M.B.E., R.N., told the Women's Canadian Club meeting Friday in the Empress Hotel. "There is only one idea in the minds of all the men, and that is to get this thing over as quickly as possible," he continued.

Cramped quarters of submarines were described by the young naval officer when he said: "There isn't much space left when 17 men with 12 hammocks, seamen's kits and fresh provisions make a space 21 feet long and 8 feet wide their living quarters."

Lieut. Jewell described the various phases of submarine warfare and said the last phase was now opening with the battle in the Pacific, "and we hope this round will end."

Mrs. F. G. Aldous introduced the speaker, who was thanked by Mrs. W. M. Hotham, treasurer of the W.A. to the R.G.N., who were guests at the meeting. Mrs. G. A. McCurdy sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs. W. B. Milburn.

FURLOUGH TROUBLES

Dear Miss Dix: I am in the army, but am stationed close enough to my home to be able to come to it for week-ends. All the week I am surrounded by people. Everything is the eternal grind of nerves, and I long for nothing so much as peace and rest and to be alone with my family. But from the minute I come home until I leave, the house is flooded with visitors who put me through a questionnaire about things that I cannot talk about.

My experience is that of all the service men who go on furloughs. Is there any way that these good, kind people who mean so well and who treat us so ill, can be made to see how we long to be left alone?

JOE

Answer: I fear not, for even the soldiers' own families do not realize this. They are so proud of their boys in the service and so anxious to show them off that they make martyrs of them. I know of one case of a boy who came home on a furlough to find out that his mother had scheduled his every minute so that he did not even have time to go to see his girl.

Dear Dorothy Dix: At 17 I was hopelessly in love with a young chap who has since married and has a family of his own. Every man I met after that suffered by comparison, but finally I married a man I did not love on the rebound.

Now after a couple of years of marriage I realize my mistake, and am wondering whether I should get a divorce. But I find myself hesitating for two reasons. First, it seems ruthless to make my good husband suffer for my mistake. Secondly, I am now 30 and may never meet a man who would rouse in me the same ardor that I felt at 18. What would you advise me to do?

DOUBTFUL

Answer: I would advise you to realize that 18 and 30 are 12,000 emotional miles apart in a woman's life. You can never bring back a day that is dead, or love again with the wild abandon of youth. Forget this early romance and stick to the good, kind husband who loves you.

THE Home Nurse

SICKROOM NIGHT LIGHT MUST BE CAREFULLY SHADED

By MARY BEARD

Director, Nursing Service, Red Cross

Providing a night light without glare or flickering shadows is often a problem in the sick-room.

Unless the patient is very ill and requires frequent care or constant watching at night, the sickroom should be dark. If it is necessary for him to help himself or if he needs occasional attention the room may be dimly lighted.

Electric lights are safest and most satisfactory in many ways, but not imperative. If a small bed lamp is available, attach it to an extension cord and place the lamp under the bed. This makes a diffused light on the floor that is sufficient for most purposes and will prevent your stumbling over the furniture when you enter the room. If a plain electric bulb must be used on the extension cord instead of a bed lamp, hang the bulb over the edge of a tin pan or a crockery jar that will not break when heated.

USE EXTRA CAUTION

An oil lamp near the bed of a sick person is extremely dangerous. If it is necessary to use such a lamp, place it far enough from the bed that it cannot be accidentally overturned. A tin can or pail (if there are such things these days) with the bottom cut out may be set down over the lamp to make a convenient fireproof shade. A small screen made of a pasteboard box with the ends cut out, may be set up around the lamp, at a safe distance so that it will not catch fire. Such a screen may be made quite attractive by covering it with wallpaper or a gay cotton print. Avoid placing the lamp in front of a mirror that will reflect the light back into the patient's face.

GRAN CHACO INDIANS HUNT LUNGFISH

In the heart of South America there is a region known as the "Gran Chaco." The name seems to have grown from an Indian word, "chacu," and has been translated to mean "animal roundup." As commonly used, however, it seems to stand for a gathering or roundup of people as well as animals. There are many kinds of Indians in the Gran Chaco.

Some maps of South America show the Gran Chaco region fairly clearly. Most of it is in northern Argentina, but a good-sized part is in Paraguay, and Bolivia has claims to a section.

WAR OVER GRAN CHACO

Paraguay and Bolivia fought a war over the Gran Chaco, but for the main part it is made up of swamps, jungles and desert lands. White men have stayed away from it as a rule, and have founded only a few small cities and villages there. Some of the Indian residents have taken on ways of the whites, but a greater number have kept to their old customs. They are among the few "wild Indians" left in the world.

If you want to learn the size of the Gran Chaco, you may find it hard to do so. Different reference books give different areas. The figures run all the way from

DIFFER ABOUT BOUNDARIES

Those differences come from the fact that people differ as to how far the Gran Chaco extends. They agree that the Bermejo and Pilcomayo rivers run through it, but are not certain how much land to the north and south should be included. We can figure roughly that the Gran Chaco is almost, if not quite, as large as the state of Texas.

The two rivers which I have named are not good waterways. Very small boats may go up and down them, but a steamer or large launch cannot do so. There are many shallow places.

In this month of May the "wet season" of the Gran Chaco is coming to an end. From June until October, there will be a dry season with very little rain.

In the dry season ahead, most of the brooks and small streams in the Gran Chaco will dry up. Even the marshes will lose their water.

The great changes in rainfall in that part of South America seem to explain the existence of certain interesting fish. These fish live in water, chiefly in swamps or marshes, during the wet season. When the dry season comes, however, they must get along without water.

The fish of which I speak are "lungfish" or "mudfish." They are very much like eels in shape, and are found in swampy parts of Brazil as well as in Paraguay and Argentina.

BURROW INTO MUD

When these fish find that the water in their swamps is drying up, they dig or burrow into the mud below. At length they have no water at all in which to live. Almost covered with dry mud, they must wait until the next wet season for a new water supply.

There are openings in the dry mud covering and through them the eel-like lungfish get a supply of air. Thanks to their lungs, they are able to take oxygen from the air!

Breathing slowly during the dry months, the South American lungfish stay alive until rains fall in late October or early November. That is the time of spring in the southern half of South America.

INDIANS HUNT LUNGFISH

Some Indians of the Gran Chaco go out to hunt lungfish, and take them home for food. It seems a shame that such rare and interesting fish should be treated in that way, but the Indians want something to eat and the lungfish can be found fairly easily in their mud homes during the dry season.

Besides the lungfish in South America, there are others in Egypt and Australia. The Egyptian and Australian lungfish differ somewhat in form and habits.

Kaiser Firm To Invade India In Big Coal Deal

By TOM BURNS
WASHINGTON (ONA) — A large-scale program for the development of India's mineral resources will be undertaken shortly by the Henry Kaiser Company, it was learned today.

A spokesman for the American construction firm confirmed that his organization has virtually completed negotiations with the government of India calling for the development of a huge coal strip-mining enterprise about 190 miles from Calcutta in Bengal province. The spokesman said that immediately upon completion of the agreement, several score American engineers and construction experts will leave for India to begin operations.

It was learned that the proposed strip-mining project promises to be the largest of its kind in all India and will mark a substantial step in the development of that country's vast resources. The Indian construction job will be the first major undertaking of the Kaiser Company outside the United States and its possessions. The company spokesman said that Kaiser envisions similar large-scale war and post-war projects in other backward areas of the world as soon as practicable. Only recently Kaiser signed contracts to build 30 ships for the Dutch government.

The Kaiser spokesman said the agreement for the Indian job will be concluded as soon as the approval of an Indian purchasing mission now en route to the United States has been obtained.

Full Labor Support For Bond Campaign

"Victoria labor showed leadership in helping this area overcome its fuel shortage last winter. Victoria labor demonstrated its strength in demands for amendment of the original wartime wage control order. Now Victoria labor has an opportunity to display its unity, strength and leadership in support of the Sixth Victory Loan issue. We've given an example to Canada before. Now we want to give an example to the rest of Canada in putting this district over the top in the loan campaign."

C. W. Marshall, president, Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference, set out that objective today as he enlisted further assistance from the workers in providing the funds to aid the war effort.

"Several locals and labor groups," he said, "have already made substantial purchases and have encouraged their members to buy to the limit. It is a drive in which we cannot fail. The men out there are depending on the men back home. Apart from production, the biggest help we can provide is through purchases of bonds."

Catholic School In Saanich Held Up

Saanich Zoning Board of Appeal Thursday refused the request of the J. O. Byrne Construction Co. on behalf of Bishop John Cody to build a Roman Catholic school at Palmer and Cumberland Street.

The location is in an area zoned for single family dwellings. Protests were registered by the residents of the area.

The school, which was to have four classrooms and auditorium, was to have cost $20,000.

The application of National Housing Administration to convert the old Talmie home into an eight-suite apartment was granted, the administration announcing it would make every effort to preserve the building and grounds as they were.

A similar application for the old Woodward estate on Clowelly Terrace was refused, after residents of the area had protested the plan.

R. A. Anderson was granted permission to convert 3477 Douglas into a three-suite apartment.

By ART STOTT

THERE ARE all kinds of sandlots from which ball players are drawn. But "Dusty" Mair, home on leave from the Navy, means a sandlot, and lots of sand, when he describes the diamond on which he played. It was a hunk of the Sahara Desert by the Bitter Lakes of the Suez Canal.

"Boy, it was hot," he said. "It was so hot we practically had to shanghai a man to keep score for us. There wasn't a spectator in miles. And there we were playing international softball."

It was too torrid even for the players at first. But they got used to it. Uniforms were shorts and shoes, with the occasional hat for those who didn't mind being called sissies. With their afternoons free, the Canadian boys on his ship challenged the U.S. air force. Twice they licked the fliers, but there's no one to prove it but the sand-devils of the desert and an unwilling scorekeeper. There were thousands in the adjacent camp, but those who were not on duty were either sheltering from the sun or were Englishmen playing cricket or soccer.

"I tried cricket myself," says Dutay, "but I nearly threw my arm out bowling overhand."

IT WAS a sporty crew which shipped from Scotland around Africa to the Suez. There were about 200 Canadians among the 1,100 ratings. As soon as they left the land of the heather, the Canadians started to box and kept it up day after day. Just out from Durban the English boys arranged a boxing tournament. It took four days to stage owing to the volume of entries. Although outnumbered more than five to one in personnel, the Canadians took four of the five divisional titles at stake.

Bob Hickey, Golden Gloves boxer of Vancouver who spent a lot of time in the Navy in Victoria and was decorated in the Sicily show, stepped out of his class to fight as a middleweight and whipped his opposition with three kayos and one technical knockout in four starts.

The same Bob Hickey was P.T.I. for the group and, as a physical training instructor, enjoyed the unique experience of having the boys approach him with requests for P.T. classes.

"There was nothing else to do," Dusty explains. Mair did not participate in the boxing, which is, in itself, unusual. It appears he had a sprained hand from a little extramural battling before he boarded the ship. Apart from the entertainment it provided those on the vessel, the boxing tourney had a very definite value. Things had been a little sticky between the Canadians and the English before the show. The bouts cleared the air and much greater harmony was established.

IF SOFTBALL and boxing were out of season in the Suez, water polo was definitely in. The water, explains "Dusty," was so buoyant it held the players' shoulders clear. It was a little hard on the eyes, from salt, but that didn't stop the ship's team, including four Canadians, from beating a British destroyer's squad 5 to 3. Arrangements were all made for a return engagement, but the exigencies of war intervened and the vessels were miles apart when the date for the event came around.

The interest he took in swimming for the local "Y" has continued during Dusty's term in the Navy. In Scotland he and three other Canadians accepted invitations to a meet. One of the boys won the 100 and 200 freestyle, Mair won the breaststroke and placed second in the 100; the team of four finished second in a well-contested relay and joined the Canadian polo team which beat the Commandos 2 to 1.

POP JACKSON, whose middle names are Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, looks forward to an encouraging season at the Fort Street courts. New members are coming in and there appear to be lots of tennis balls on hand. Furthermore, many veterans will be back. It would be unfair to expect the club to develop a new champion, a junior of Pacific Northwest or national prominence during the war years, but it's nearing the time the city's senior club produced such a youngster. Not that we want to undersell the old guard. Its members have done a good job for a long time. However, they are entitled to a little relief in carrying Victoria's colors.

Incidentally, it should be distinctly understood suggestions that property behind the club be used for a cottage home for senior citizens have nothing to do with the age grouping of the club's active membership.

Lawn Bowling Group Here Names Leaders

The Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association, meeting recently, set $5,000 as an objective to be raised by games this year for children bombed out of British homes, and elected officers for the coming season. To date the organization has forwarded $10,352 to Britain for young victims of bombing.

D. Dewar, Victoria, was elected honorary president; C. Fairall, Victoria West, first vice-president and H. Milnes, Lake Hill, second vice-president.

A. W. Stewart, Burnside, was named president; A. Playfair, secretary; T. Smellie, Victoria, assistant secretary, and G. B. Dixon, Victoria, treasurer; A. McCallum and A. L. Urry, Lake Hill, umpires; H. Beckwith, Victoria, and A. L. Urry, auditors.

Dates for the Save the Babies fund games will be determined later, as will those for Cameron Nicol and Whitney Cup play. The 17th annual holiday tournament was set for Aug. 7 to 12, and other fixtures were listed as follows:

Peace Cup island singles championship, July 8; Barnard Cup, July 29 to Aug. 5; Anson Cup, Aug. 19 to Aug. 26; Yarrows Cup, Sept. 2 to 4.

At Burnside night play will open Tuesday at 7.30 when the first games for the Harmon Trophy will be played. A short executive session will follow. Open competitions will start May 24 with mixed triples seeking the Empire Day Cup and on Sunday afternoon the first of the Totem Pole games will start at 2.30. Night games for mixed rinks will start Thursday.

Jack Robbins captained the Victorians on their trip this week, while Ward Allen led the Vancouver crew. Thirty-five of the latter are expected to come over for the mainland club next month.

Dog Show Entries Close Wednesday

Canadian Kennel Club rules will be followed in the Victoria City Kennel Club show May 17 at the Crystal Garden and championship points will be awarded according to the scale set by the Dominion body.

Any dog, registered or not, is eligible to compete. Classes divided by sex, follow: Junior puppy, six months and under nine months; senior puppy, nine months and under 12 months; novice for dogs never having won a first prize at a championship show; limit for those not having won more than three first prizes; open class, no restrictions; brace class, Canadian bred for those bred in Canada.

Judging by Jack Leitch of Seattle is scheduled to commence at 11 a.m., and will continue throughout the day until the final award of best of all breeds in the show is made.

It is anticipated that when the entries close on midnight, May 10, a record number will have been received.

The lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden, where the event will be staged, will be equipped with a public address system and ample seating accommodation for the patrons around the spacious judging ring.

The show is being held under the auspices of the Junior V.O.N. Entry forms may be obtained at the Owl Drug Store, Fort and Douglas; the Pet Shop, Douglas Street, or from the secretary, 136 Wellington Avenue, E 2536.

Cub Deal Gives Grimm Two Jobs

CHICAGO (AP)—Gag-thriller, banjo-playing Charlie Grimm had two baseball clubs on his hands today.

He said he had accepted management of the Chicago Cubs—a position which he resigned under front-office pressure on July 20, 1938, after a 13-year connection with the club, six in the role of field boss.

The acceptance by the jovial, 44-year-old Grimm came during a brief meeting with Phil K. Wrigley, Cub owner, and James Gallagher, general manager and vice-president. It came only after Grimm was satisfied in his own mind that young Bill Veeck's interests in the Milwaukee Brewers would be protected. Veeck, son of a former Cub president, is a marine on duty in the south Pacific. He is executive head of the American Association Club, and Grimm is manager and part owner.

Grimm will introduce Casey Stengel, who resigned as manager of the Boston Braves last winter, to the Milwaukee team as its skipper.

Grimm has not signed a Cub contract, but when he does it is expected to carry a salary appreciably higher than the reported $20,000 paid annually to Jimmy Wilson, who resigned Monday.

Roy Johnson, Cub coach who was named acting manager after Wilson's sudden resignation, will remain in that capacity in the meantime, trying to crack a 10-game losing streak.

Bartolo Defeats Terranova Again

BOSTON (AP)—Sal Bartolo, the polished Boston featherweight, made his first successful defence of his National Boxing Association title Friday night by defeating Phil Terranova, New York, in a dockyard brawl before 7,673 at Boston Garden. The champion weighed 126, while Terranova scaled 125½.

The boys threw the rule book out the window early in the 15-round battle in which Bartolo was giving Terranova a crack at the title he lifted from the rugged New Yorker just 55 evening ago in the same Garden.

Bartolo, whom Terranova had accused of bicycling to the title in their previous engagement, shifted his usual long-range style to the rugged milling which the challenger prefers and proved superior at the vicious infighting which marked the battle from the opening round.

The champion fought the same well-paced battle which won him the title last March by piling up a long early lead coasting through the middle stages and then flashing back strongly in the closing rounds.

Phils Extend Win Streak, Etten Stars for Yanks

First it was the St. Louis Browns and now it's the Phillies spinning a fancy winning streak when they are supposed to be playing dead in the second division.

Freddy Fitzsimmons' mixture of hustling minor leaguers and holdovers from the 1943 seventh-place outfit have won five and tied one since their last defeat, April 28. The Yankies, too, have a five-game streak and the Browns have won 12 of 15 games.

Ken Raffensberger, who spent last year with Los Angeles, southpawed his way to a four-hitter and Ron Northey smacked a two-run homer as the rejuvenated Phils shaded Brooklyn 3 to 1.

New York Giants are in a rut that is running the wrong way, dropping down to even .500 ball by losing their fifth in succession, a 3 to 2 verdict to Boston.

Nick Etten was Mr. Big in the Yanks' 11 to 7 triumph over the Red Sox, clubbing Tex Hughson and Joe Wood for a homer, double and single, batting in two runs and drawing two walks to boost his average to .488. Etten now has hit safely in 11 consecutive games since opening day.

Both Early Wynn of Washington and Jesse Flores of the Athletics were rapped hard and often, but Ossie Bluege of the Nats was able to come up with better relief pitching and a seven-run spurt in the last two innings for an 11 to 8 verdict over the Athletics.

Johnny Sullivan, Washington shortstop, collected four hits and batted in four runs.

COAST LEAGUE

The Seattle Rainiers trounced the San Diego Padres in both ends of a baseball doubleheader at the northern city Friday night to take a firm grip on third place in Coast League standings, and shoved the Padres into fifth place, behind Hollywood.

The Rainiers blanked the Padres 6 to 0 in the seven-inning opener behind the three-hit pitching of the veteran Byron Speer. Rainier leftfielder Connie Creden hit a circuit-clout with the bases loaded in the fifth to sew up the second game 7 to 3.

Portland needed 11 innings to defeat Sacramento 4 to 3. The deadlock was broken when shortstop Johnny O'Neill singled to right centre, scoring John Cicci-marro from third.

Hollywood moved into fourth position with its fourth straight win over Oakland 10 to 8. San Francisco defeated Los Angeles 4 to 3. Pinchhitter Logan Hooper singled in the ninth to score Bernie Uhalt after Los Angeles had tied the game at 3 all in the seventh.

Victory Bonds We Buy Have World-wide Impact

COMMANDERS OF THE INVASION FORCES look to Canada for a never-ending stream of munitions. We at home must first buy bonds. L. to R.—(seated) Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, General Sir Bernard Montgomery, (standing) Lt. General Omar N. Bradley, Admiral Sir Bertram H. Ramsay, Air Chief Marshal Sir Trafford Leigh-Mallory, Lt. General Walter Bedell-Smith.

RUSSIA'S FEAT in turning back the Nazis was greatly aided by the tanks, guns, shells, planes and other supplies from Canada. Our bond-buyers made those shipments possible.

MADE IN CANADA for export to Germany. More bonds, more bombs.

MILLIONS of Canadian shells have been produced by Canadian men and women workers. Buying Victory Bonds will pass more ammunition along.

MIRACLES of manufacturing are being achieved in Canada. These guns are typical. We must all buy bonds to maintain Canadian production.

HISTORIC EVENT Sicily, first invasion point in Europe, was assailed by landing-barges built in Canada. Bonds paid for those barges.

COMING soon into the scene will be bases for bombing Tokio. Canadian-made planes and bombs will be there—bought by Victory Bonds.

Associated Hospitals Services Beneficial

Since its inception three months ago, 128 members of Associated Hospitals Services of British Columbia—the Blue Cross hospital plan—in Victoria and Vancouver have received free hospitalization to the amount of $6,500, it was announced today.

With more than 15,000 subscribers and their dependents enrolled under the plan, it was stated that this represents an annual rate of one in nine receiving hospital attention. Provincial statistics show that one out of every eight persons in British Columbia enters a hospital each year.

E. W. McMullen, Victoria regional director of the Associated Hospitals Service, said hospital insurance is something which groups of employees can undertake on their own behalf. Some 79 Blue Cross nonprofit hospitalization plans are operating in Canada and the United States and experience has proved them to be actually sound, he said. Apart from payment of administration expenses such as rent and office salaries, the fund is used solely to cover members' hospital costs, and extension of hospital services, length of stay, X-ray and blood transfusions, is contemplated as funds accumulate.

Under the Blue Cross plan, subscribers are assured of full payment of nearly all hospital charges for any illness or accident up to 30 days each year. Mr. McMullen said, adding that with hospital bills taken care of, subscribers can face the payment of doctors' bills without undue alarm.

The Blue Cross plan is available to employed groups of five or more members, the head office of the society being at 470 Granville Street, Vancouver.

Labor organizations have approved Blue Cross hospitalization plans for their members and representatives of labor sit on the board of directors of the Associated Hospitals Services of B.C.

Hundreds Hear Navy Day Loan Program At View Street

Victorians by the hundreds jammed every available foot of space around View Street Victory Loan platform today for the Navy Day program, which included a talk by AB. Tom Morris of the Royal Navy, a concert by the R.C.N. Band, under WO. Stan Sunderland, and a display of naval equipment. The exhibit will be flooded this evening.

With Sixth Victory loan returns for Vancouver Island over the $3,000,000 mark, and less than $4,000,000 still to be subscribed in the next seven working days, men, women and children were viewing with interest the truckloads of naval equipment, which included various instruments of war and types of armament.

Nine ratings were kept busy answering the questions of the public.

Landing of the Canadians in the Mediterranean, and capitulation of the Italian fleet, provided the highlights for AB. Morris' address from the View Street stand. He was introduced by Capt. H. R. Lumby, and the Victory Loan program was broadcast from 3.30 to 4.

Greater Victoria has still $2,500,000 worth of bonds to subscribe before it reaches its objective. Already more than $3,000,000 has been subscribed, and island figures approximately $250,000 ahead of the previous campaign for the same period.

Only unit to report its objective reached Friday was the sub-unit of North Saanich with a quota of $11,600. Subscriptions to date amounting to $117,500 with applications still to be filed, were reported. With the exception of Ladysmith, the district of which North Saanich forms a part, is leading all districts of the island.

First civilian division in British Columbia and the Yukon to reach its quota was Vancouver suburban, according to a Friday Canadian Press report. It went over its quota with the aid of $750,000 invested by 6,400 employees of Burrard Drydock Company's North Shore yard. Also over the top were Ladysmith, Richmond, North Vancouver and Atlin. British Columbia-Yukon has invested from all sources, $87,755,950, or 73 per cent of the overall quota of $120,000,000.

Bishop John C. Cody, spoke on the need for "such heralds of truth" and thanked the Catholic Youth Organization for their efforts in promoting the cause of Catholic periodicals.

Following the Holy Hour in the Cathedral a large group gathered in the hall to see the publications. Bernard Power, president of the C.Y.O., under whose auspices the event was presented, was chairman.

Ottawa, remained with that ship for three years. He left the Ottawa before she was sunk to take a leading torpedoman's course at Halifax and was then posted to the Athabaskan.

Promising Program By Little Theatre

Departing from their usual custom of full-length productions, the Victoria Little Theatre and Dramatic School will, next Thursday and Friday, present a program of three one-act plays. For sheer entertainment these will no doubt prove highly popular. They have been carefully chosen to provide a contrasted and well balanced evening and strongly cast from some of the best talent in the organization.

Directed by Mrs. Edith Gibson, the first play will be a poignant and colorful drama of behind-the-scenes life of circus folk, with an unusual and breath-taking climax. This will be followed by an amusing, pliant costume comedy under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, and a quick-paced, sparkling, youthful comedy directed by Mrs. Audrey St. Denis Johnson.

Performances will take place at the Little Theatre, Langham Place off Rockland Avenue. The Little Theatre Orchestra, under the leadership of Wm. Press, will play during the intermissions. The curtain will rise at 8.15 sharp. The box office is open now at the Marionette Library.

'Y' Plans Centenary Celebration, June 6

Centenary of the Young Men's Christian Association will be celebrated in Victoria June 6, and plans have already been laid for a banquet in the "Y" gymnasium that evening, and for a sports day and special church services, for the Sunday preceding, Frank Paulding, secretary, said today.

Reports from all standing committees of the Y.M.C.A. were given at a special meeting of the Centenary Committee, headed by E. G. Rowebottom, vice-president of the Victoria "Y." Ray Parfitt announced that the education and social committee, with the Ladies' Auxiliary, would take charge of the banquet and Ernest Harrison, head of the finance committee, said a special meeting of his group would be held Monday night.

A sports day and installation of a filtration system for the swimming pool were plans discussed by the physical committee, which will meet Monday afternoon with Stan Moore, chairman.

On August 7, date set for international observance of the Y centenary, the boys' work committee will hold a "Fire of Friendship" at the boys' camp, Glanz Lake. Dr. Clifford Carl said boys' work will stress world service for the coming year, he added.

Ministerial Association has endorsed the use of all pulpits in Victoria city and district on Sunday, June 4 for mention of the Y.M.C.A. and youth, J. A. Heritage reported. Board of the "Y" and members will attend service in a body at Metropolitan United. Membership committee will launch a special campaign this year to obtain a record number of memberships, Mr. Paulding said.

Island Gliding Club Will Meet Tuesday

Victoria and Island Gliding and Soaring Club annual general meeting will be held in the City Hall at 8 Tuesday.

The "Dagling" model new glider now in the hangar is almost completed, and is a primary training ship of British design with a wing span of 34 feet and a weight of approximately 700 pounds net. The take off speed will be between 15 and 20 miles per hour, and it has a gliding angle of one foot drop in 18 feet of flight.

The club has purchased a full set of blue prints and specifications for the building of a "Kirby Kadet Model" intermediate sail-

Mainwaring Agrees To Help Victoria Obtain Fireboat

Support of the Provincial Civilian Protection Committee to secure a fireboat for Victoria was promised Friday night by W. C. Mainwaring, chairman of the advisory council of the committee, at a meeting of the Controllers and Chief Wardens' Association at the Empress Hotel.

Purpose of the fireboat, which had been urged by civic officials for two years, is to assure greater fire protection for the Victoria harbor where large stores are warehoused.

"If you don't mess it up by going to Ottawa first, then I can help you," Mr. Mainwaring assured Inspector A. H. Bishop, Victoria civil defence controller. He added that if Victoria got into a jackpot like Vancouver, he didn't want to have anything to do with it.

Vancouver has received three fireboats.

Concentrating on firefighting at the request of military authorities, Mr. Mainwaring said firefighting equipment here had been almost doubled in the last three months, and would be increased further in anticipation of Japanese hit-and-run raids.

"Attention of the Japanese is very keenly focused on us now," he said, noting that southern Vancouver Island was a number one target area.

JOB UNFINISHED

During a previous conference with Premier John Hart, head of the Civil Defence in B.C., Mr. Mainwaring said he had been asked to carry on as the job was yet unfinished.

"I am hoping within a few weeks to introduce some new practices," Mr. Mainwaring said. "We have definitely solved the problem of manning our two regional control areas, the first of which is your southern Vancouver Island and the second the Lower Mainland area."

With personnel totaling 62,500 or 8 per cent of the population, B.C. now has some 150 local committees. Having proved their value on many occasions, these men and women must now be kept interested and enthusiastic in their work, he said.

"We are going to develop some sort of community enterprise which will be of great value in community life in post-war years," he added.

Mr. Mainwaring also addressed 60 men of the Legion of Frontiersmen and the Provincial Auxiliary Police. P. B. Scurran presided.

Premiers Adjourn For Week-End; Talk On Economics Next

LONDON (CP)—The prime ministers of the Empire countries, having concluded a review of the war situation, future war plans and most aspects of foreign policy in a week of conferences at historic 10 Downing Street, have tentatively set the end of next week for the wind-up of their meeting.

Today no conference sessions were held and the Empire leaders took advantage of a long weekend. They will get together again Monday after Prime Minister King of Canada and Curtin of Australia spend a weekend in the country, and Prime Ministers Smuts of South Africa and Peter Fraser of New Zealand keep other engagements.

Economic policy in world aspects will be the next item on the agenda when the leaders reconvene. This phase of the meetings will include a review of the progress made in studies by various government experts on currency stabilization, tariff reduction and long-term international investment policy.

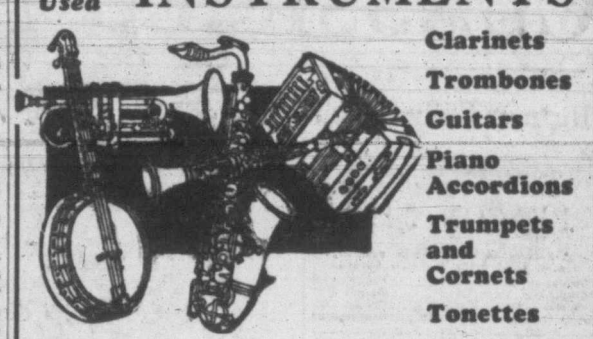

Speaking for Canada on these questions, Prime Minister King will have definite views favorable to the greatest possible freedom of trade from tariff and monetary restrictions. The Canadian government wants to assure markets for the Dominion's surplus farm and other products in the postwar period and is believed to go a considerable distance in opening the Canadian market to imports if this can be obtained.

Esquimalt police reported at 10.30 last night someone had stolen a truck belonging to Bert White, 923 View Street, from outside the Half-Way House.

Traffic was held up for about 30 minutes Friday afternoon when cars driven by Donald Graham, 1222 Rudin Street, and Herbert Jesse, 652 Toronto Street, were in a collision, city police report. Nearly half an hour was taken in separating the two cars, the rear bumper of Jesse's car being entangled in the grill of Graham's car.

plane of modern design—the work on which will soon commence under the leadership of A. L. Young, manager of Boelings Aircraft Factory in Victoria.

Japanese Reduce Chinese Hold on Hankow Railroad

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING (AP)—Japanese forces pushing up the Peiping-Hankow railway have narrowed the Chinese hold on that vital north-south artery to about 40 miles, field dispatches said today. The dispatches declared that other Japanese troops striking from the south had reached a point within 10 miles to the east-west Lungai railway junction of Loyang, 65 miles west of the Peiping-Hankow road.

A Chinese communiqué also announced that a third enemy column was pushing toward the southeastern corner of Honan through Anhwei province after capturing Fowyang, on the Yellow River about 50 miles from the provincial border, April 29. The Japanese operations in Honan were described as the most extensive since the drive on Hankow in 1938. There was a general feeling here that the enemy was bent on making at least one grand attempt to knock the Chinese out of the war, principally to prevent China from being used as a base by the Allies.

The fall of Loyang might possibly be a forerunner to a westward push to Sian, from which the invaders might take the historic invasion route to Szechwan. This threat, however, was still far removed. It would inevitably entail a battle with the flower of the Chinese Army.

I.O.D.E. Bursary For Promising Violinist

ARTHUR MERVIN CUMMINGS

Every effort is being made to give Victoria's promising young violinist, Arthur Mervin Cummings, the opportunity to get good teaching. At a meeting of primary education secretaries of the I.O.D.E., with Mrs. J. F. Beckett, municipal educational secretary, presiding, it was unanimously agreed to award a bursary of $120 to the young musician.

Mervin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cummings, 1638 Earle Street. The father served with the 78th Battalion in France and was a prisoner of war.

Mervin, who was born in Saskatchewan, took a fancy to the violin when 9, and worked in his father's field in Pentecost until he earned $5.50 with which to purchase an instrument. He taught himself and played at school and church affairs. In the Pentecost Musical Festival he did well, and then went on to Vernon Festival to win the open violin championship. He was then 17.

The Cummings family moved to Victoria and Mervin studied under Selma Reyes. After matriculating he worked as a cabin boy on the Alaskan boats. He got an engagement to play at the Summer School here, and delivered meat and became elevator boy at a hotel. He played at banquets and picked up odd change. He taught himself to play the piano.

On reaching his 19th birthday Mervin enlisted in the army, but later was honorably discharged. He returned to intensive study of the violin and the women of the I.O.D.E. were impressed with his ability and seriousness. They decided to help him. Two members of the committee were so impressed that they subscribed $30 to the fund.

GERTRUDE HUNTLY GREEN PLAYS FOR RED CROSS

Gertrude Huntly Green, Victoria's favorite pianist, played Friday night at Victoria High School auditorium, in aid of the Red Cross, under auspices of Victoria chapter, Toronto Conservatory of Music Alumni.

As usual with this delightful artist, mistress of the piano, she had a charm quite her own as she presented a heavy and difficult program, lightened by many lovely compositions by Chopin, who, it is suspected, is her favorite master.

Always Mrs. Green is a picture of poise and artistry at the instrument she knows and loves so well. She seems never to change, except in her music, which grows more sincere and finished and sure each time she performs. The artist, her playing, the good cause for which the concert was given deserved a larger house, which, however, could not have been more appreciative.

Mrs. Green opened her program with the "Gluck-Friedman" Ballet of the "Happy Shades"; then came the mighty and impressive Toccata and Fugue in D minor, originally composed for organ and arranged for piano by Carl Tausig. This is the work of, and for, a master in composition and interpretation, and Mrs. Green was well able to sustain the tremendous passages of power

EXPLAINS COMPOSITION

One of the many charms of Mrs. Green is her informality and friendliness, which she showed to a marked degree when she explained the Carnival of Schumann, illustrating her talk with a few notes on the piano.

Six compositions by Chopin composed the second part of the program—a ballade, nocturne, two studies, an impromptu fantasy and the majestic and ever-popular Polonaise, Op. 53. When she finished she was greeted with an outburst of applause and flowers from the Alumni.

For encore Mrs. Green gave "Wanderer," by Schubert-Liszt; the Chopin prelude in A major, and Blumenfeld's "Study for the Left Hand."

THIS WAR FOUR YEARS AGO

May 6, 1940—Allied troops gradually closed in on Narvik. More Allied warships concentrated in eastern end of Mediterranean. German forces repulsed for third day from the Maginot Line.

May 7, 1940—Prime Minister Chamberlain admitted the failure of the Norwegian expedition while defending the effort. Army and navy leaves canceled in Holland and international communications cut off.

Having Not Enough to Sell

By E. R. CAWLEY
Chairman Red Cross Superfluities Committee

If I were writing a book I should call it "Unsung Heroes," but the people about whom I am writing do not consider themselves heroes, nor am I capable of writing a book.

They work so diligently and so unnoted that I feel it is time for someone in close touch with them to let the people of Victoria know what a marvelous work is being done by the purely voluntary workers of the Red Cross Superfluities Store.

We are fortunate indeed in having our premises rent free, which means that our expenses rarely run to more than $25 per month, which is for the janitor, light and fuel. I doubt if this can be beaten for economy in any public trust, which we are, and will be a source of wonderment to any business man or woman, and especially when they realize that we have, up to March 31, 1944, cleared the magnificent sum of $45,105, which has been sent to National Red Cross headquarters to buy food and other comfort for all those who are fighting for us.

Does this not make us all realize the absolute necessity of keeping the shop functioning? And yet we are frequently put to the indignity of having practically nothing to display.

Many are the weary hours spent by members of the committee in collecting merchandise. Rarely is this merchandise other than superfluities in our homes. Yet in spite of this such a fine showing can be made!

Have we ever stopped to think of the hours spent in properly pricing the merchandise, displaying it in the windows and shelves attractive? The endless hours spent in polishing silver and brasses?

We do not ask you to buy. There are hundreds of calls upon your pocketbooks these days, but we do ask you to give of your unneeded possessions which are so avidly picked up by our tourist trade.

Unless we can rely upon a steady flow of merchandise, we will be forced to close our doors. I am sure no one will allow such a catastrophe to happen.

SINUS DISTRESS

Perhaps membranes need the vitamins Nature meant they should have

Sinus affections, arthritis, colds and other ills of respiratory organs are often traceable to lack of adequate vitamins in the daily diet. As a basic treatment, each and every day supplement your food with "ALL-IN-ONE" Vitamin Tablets—one after breakfast—one after dinner. They combine all 12 vital vitamins—plus valuable minerals—plus yeast. Membranes, resistance to infection, general health should soon improve. Only $2.35 for a month's supply (24 tablets) at most drug stores.

Paul's Tolerance of Old Custom Guide for Freedom Today

Text: Acts 15:23-29; Galatians 2:1, 2, 9, 10, 20, 21

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

PREJUDICES die hard. And the finest of faiths and convictions tend to become affected by prejudices unless preserved by constant watchfulness.

The story of the way in which well-intentioned Christians sought to prevent the fullest manifestation of the grace of God in the early church ought to have been full of enlightenment and warning; but the same sort of attitude and prejudice has marred the entire history of the Christian church, and persists, a blot upon the church of today.

Paul, when he had discussed these prejudices and rebuked them, said, "I do not frustrate the grace of God." That is an impressive statement. Are we, by any chance, setting up our fallible opinions, or insisting upon our ways and our practices to the frustration of the grace of God?

The well-intentioned disciples who rebuked the mothers who brought young children that Jesus should bless them were in a sense frustrating the grace of God. Jesus was "much displeased." When we seek to impose ideas, and rites, and formal observances on others because they mean much to us, we are in danger of frustrating the grace of God. For it is a sound Christian principle that the Christian must grow in grace according to God's guidance and the light of his own conscience.

When the power of the Gospel became manifest in the saving of gentiles, and these gentiles took their place in the fellowship of the Christian church, the Jewish Christians, or some of them at least, who still observed many of the requirements of the Jewish law, sought to impose these obligations upon the gentile converts.

Against such an attitude Paul took strong and uncompromising ground; but it is instructive to note the discriminating factors in Paul's own attitude. Paul was a Jew and proud of his Jewish heritage; he had a devout attitude toward the Jewish law and he evidently maintained much of precepts and requirements in practice; it was his belief that the law could not perfectly be fulfilled, and so he laid great stress upon faith as "the end of the law for everyone that believeth"; apart from this he does not seem to have taken a revolutionary attitude, or to have sought to persuade Jewish Christians to abandon Jewish rites and practices, but he was insistent and uncompromising in his demand that new Christian converts should not be subject to the ritual requirements of the Jewish law.

Thus Paul observed an attitude of tolerance and common sense in two ways. He regarded the rights and liberties of his fellow Jewish Christians, and he upheld at the same time the right and liberties of the gentile converts. It was an attitude consistent with the facts and principles of the Christian way as taught and exemplified by Jesus.

We hold our own liberties in an honorable and justifiable way only in so far as we seek to uphold the rightful liberties of others. What right have we to be free, if we seek to impose burdens on others?

This is a lesson that applies very closely to many situations and issues of life today. The forms and manifestations of prejudices and intolerances change, but in essence they are the same.

Rev. T. H. McAllister Returns From Synod

Continued progress in all departments of the Presbyterian church's work in British Columbia was reported by Rev. T. H. McAllister today, on his return from Vancouver, where he attended the 53rd Synod of the Presbyterian Church.

All mission fields are being supplied and budget funds showed a decided increase during 1943, he said.

Rev. D. A. Fowlie of Buchanan Presbyterian Church, Vancouver, was elected moderator of the synod, succeeding Rev. P. C. MacRae, retiring moderator. In his sermon, Mr. MacRae made a plea for unity in the church and a higher concept of the church itself and of church membership. Mr. McAllister said, Rev. F. S. Morley of Grace Church, Calgary, was synod preacher.

'Destination Tokyo' Opens at Capitol

"Destination Tokyo," based on U.S. navy's submarine warfare in the Pacific waters, will be the new attraction at the Capitol Theatre starting Monday. The new Warner Bros. film stars Cary Grant and John Garfield and features Robert Hutton, Warner Anderson and Dane Clark, young newcomer who scored in "Action in the North Atlantic." Others in the cast include John Ridgely, Alan Hale and William Prince.

Love Versus Spies Theme of Thriller

A one-man fight against enemy agents, whose sole mission was against him personally, makes the plot of "The Fallen Sparrow" stand out among mystery-adventure thrillers.

The big picture co-stars Maureen O'Hara and John Garfield, whose strikingly different romance also hits a new note. Their kisses and embraces are exchanged despite the heroine's knowledge that she is Number One on the hard-boiled hero's list of spy suspects!

Garfield also makes love to blonde Martha O'Driscoll and brunette Patricia Morison, and through the women finally smokes his enemies out of hiding among New York City's horde of refugees. He deals with them as ruthlessly as they would have dealt with him, particularly as they've been working under Corporal Hitler's orders. "The Fallen Sparrow" comes to the York Theatre Monday.

CADET THEATRE
Lloyd Bridges, who plays a featured role in Columbia's "Sahara," the epic of desert warfare starring Humphrey Bogart which is now showing at the Cadet Theatre, has a possession of which he is inordinately proud. "All Baba and the 40 Thieves," Universal Technicolor film which is showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, is Paul Malvern's first as a full producer. The picture co-stars Maria Montez, Jon Hall and Turhan Bey. The film is strong for its male stars, giving them real story importance and a lot of action. Just as "Arabian Nights" was outstanding for its hard-riding scenes, "All Baba" is filled with sword-play, horse-action and much romantic drama.

'Oklahoma Kid' To Play at Atlas
The management of the Atlas Theatre is pleased to announce the return engagement on Monday of "The Oklahoma Kid," starring James Cagney and Humphrey Bogart. The Warner Bros. release was prompted by the great popularity of its stars who scored tremendously in recently-released films. James Cagney's excellent portrayal of the late George M. Cohan in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" won him the Academy award, while Humphrey Bogart skyrocketed to fame in "Across the Pacific," "Casablanca" and "Action in the North Atlantic."

The supporting cast features Donald Crisp and Rosemary Lane and includes Harvey Stephens, Hugh Sothern, Charles Middleton, Edward Pawley and Ward Bond.

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES

MILLION DOLLAR RAIN

WHEN I AWOKE as the train entered Regina station Sunday morning it was raining cats and dogs. And it has been raining all day.

But a wet Sunday in Saskatchewan is not something to grieve about, as it is in Victoria.

Here it is a case of "the better the day, the better the rain." And this present downpour comes into the category of a million-dollar shower!

BADLY NEEDED

A FORMER VICTORIAN, to whom I was talking during a brief halt, spoke of the poor crop prospects unless rain fell in Saskatchewan soon.

The unusually light snowfall, instead of being a blessing as British Columbians see it, is a minor disaster to the prairie farmer.

And when a snowless winter is followed by a dry spring, it threatens a major disaster to all Canada at harvest time.

DRIED-UP LANDSCAPE

AS WE neared the Alberta-Saskatchewan border the brilliant sunshine which marked our trip through the Rockies disappeared behind an ominous black cloud.

Looking at the dried-up landscape with never a hint of green, it was obvious that the land was thirsting for much-needed rain.

Two boys in battledress told us over luncheon that the whole of the prairie country was very dry, except the Peace River, Cardston and Yorkton districts.

THOUSANDS OF DRY SLOUGHS

THIS WAS borne out by the Lethbridge Herald. One of its reporters, after travelling from Lethbridge to Winnipeg, wrote thus:

"Thousands of dry sloughs can be noted from the air, only in a few spots did there appear to be anything approaching the normal spring run-off."

"The farm lands are being cultivated, but it would appear that, though seeding weather has been ideal, work on the land is being delayed. It looks as if the wheat farmers are waiting for the rain."

Not only is the rain much needed to ensure crops for this "world's breadbasket," for wheat is golden wealth in these days of war emergency.

But with the livestock population the greatest in their history, winter feed is essential.

That is why Sunday's downpour rates a million-dollar rain!

PREFER VANCOUVER ISLAND

THE TWO servicemen to whom I referred above proved to be prairie-born lads.

When we asked where they had been stationed they told us "on Vancouver Island at Nanaimo and Port Alberni."

The red-headed freckled-face boy from Broadway thought Vancouver Island "the sweetest place" he'd ever seen. And he "would sure like to live there."

Why? Because he was fed up with "endless winters," and sick of the summer heat, which "doesn't even get cool enough at night so you can sleep."

So there are two more potential Vancouver Islanders, if war spares these lads.

NUTRITION-CONSCIOUS

INCIDENTALLY, THESE and other servicemen whom I have seen at meals on this trip confirm one impression I made some time ago—that service life helps to make them nutrition-conscious.

I never saw grown-ups drink as much milk and eat as many salads as these unformed youngsters.

Of course, I had to comment on the fact. And the redhead said: "I drink milk because I like it, and it's good for you, too. But we don't get enough of it in the army for my liking."

"POP-EYE PEP"

SPINACH THEY devoured with gusto—calling it "Pop-eye Pep!" And salads, which growing boys once disdained as "rabbit's food," seemed just as popular.

So perhaps all the propaganda to make Canadians more nutrition-conscious is not being wasted after all. As we sow good eating habits, so shall we reap a bigger crop of A1, and less C4 Canadians.

N.Y. Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Scattered liquors continued as strong performers in today's stock market while many leaders, a bit tired from their recent spring, inclined to rest in a narrowly irregular range.

Investment bullishness persisted on the idea the long-awaited invasion may have been discounted by the April selling.

Canadian issues were quiet and unchanged.

138,000 Airmen

In Invasion Fight

Says Capt. Balfour

LONDON (CP)—Capt. H. H. Balfour, Under-Secretary for Air, said today that for all practical purposes some 138,000 airmen already have opened the main battle of the invasion.

The British Under-Secretary said the destruction executed during April "throughout the length and breadth of occupied Europe" by these airmen would make the invasion path from the coast to Berlin more direct.

Capt. Balfour's address came as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel added his voice to the invasion guessing din with an assertion that the attack "must be reckoned as imminent," and boasting that the German soldier, "armed with new weapons, is ready for the utmost."

TALKS OF SURPRISES

The Allies, Rommel declared in a German broadcast monitored by the Ministry of Information, "will come up against many great surprises."

"This is particularly true of those enemy formations which may try to land by parachute or from gliders behind the coastal front," Rommel declared.

Rommel, whose forces were driven from Africa by the triumphant 8th Army troops of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, made a reference to that experience.

"Before the attack on El Alamein," Rommel said, "I thought I asked my men to kill German soldiers wherever they met them. On account of this order wounded and captured German soldiers were murdered at El Alamein."

"We German officers do not give orders to our men which are in contrast to military honor."

of which should be confined to Cairo.

Consequently, the accredited representatives of 11 American, nine British and one French news agencies and newspapers today formally protested against the policy of restricting their reporting and barring them from comment on the situation unless reflecting official policy as made evident here.

NOT MOUTHPIECES

They also warned that if the policy continued the correspondents were "in danger of being used by the authorities as mouthpieces for official views and propaganda. It is not their proper function to operate in this manner while they are citizens of neither a Fasc
